BIOGRAPHY

Suhaila Abdullah is an Associate Professor at Universiti Sains Malaysia (USM), specifically in the Philosophy and Civilization Section of the School of Humanities. Her academic pursuits encompass a wide range of topics, indicating a deep interest in subjects such as Islamic thought, Islamic civilization, Islamic education, Islamic ethics, Islamic da'wah, mosque institutions, Muslim converts, Muslim youths, and Ibn Khaldun's thought.

Suhaila is particularly interested in studying the ideas of Ibn Khaldun, especially as they relate to his well-known book, the Muqaddimah. Her commitment to comprehending the intricacies of historical thought and its influence on contemporary society is evident in her research endeavors.

Throughout her successful career, Suhaila has produced a substantial corpus of scholarly work. She has made noteworthy contributions as an author and co-author, with research books, journal articles, working papers, learning modules, and contributions to periodicals, educational magazines, and newspapers. Her commitment to disseminating information also includes mentoring postgraduate students with a focus on civilization studies and philosophy, where she plays an essential role in fostering their intellectual development.

Suhaila's active participation in group research initiatives further illustrates her influence. She has successfully obtained funds from prestigious organizations such as the Islamic Religious Department of Pulau Pinang and Perak, as well as the Ministry of Education. This support has enabled innovative research projects that expand the knowledge of important facets of Islamic studies.

In addition to her academic pursuits, Suhaila contributes her knowledge to the scholarly discussion in her field as an Editorial Board Member of the International Journal of Religion. Her diverse academic and research achievements, especially in the investigation of Ibn Khaldun's ideas through his Muqaddimah, as well as her research in Muslim converts, mosque management, Muslim youths, Islamic education and Islamic tasawwur, highlight her academic interest in Islamic philosophy and civilization studies.
